

Tata Consultancy Services Limited

Technology Market Cap: 7.6884 T Currency: INR Generated: 19 June 2026

OVERALL RISK SCORE — LOW RISK

7.7 / 100

0 = least risky · 100 = most risky

Metric Breakdown

METRIC	VALUE	RISK SCORE	TREND	ADJ. RISK
Current Ratio	2.23	0	—	0
Debt To Equity	0.11	0	—	0
Interest Coverage	54.37	0	—	0
Operating Margin	25.10%	0	—	0
Revenue Growth	4.58%	69.5	▲ +8	77.5

Plain-English Summary

Tata Consultancy Services shows a very low overall risk of 7.7 out of 100, with 0 being the least risky. This score has slightly increased due to recent trends.

The company's finances are strong in several areas. Its Current Ratio of 2.23 means it has ₹2.23 for every ₹1 of immediate bills, indicating excellent short-term financial health. Its Debt To Equity is very low at 0.11, meaning it relies little on borrowed money. It also easily covers its loan interest payments, with Interest Coverage at 54.37, though this value has decreased over time. The Operating Margin is a healthy 25.10%, showing good profitability from its core business. All these metrics present no significant risk.

The main factor slightly increasing the risk score is Revenue Growth, which measures how quickly the company's sales are increasing. While sales are still growing at 4.58%, this rate has slowed over the past few years (down from 6.85%). This downward trend in growth has pushed the overall risk score up.

In summary, Tata Consultancy Services Limited currently presents a very low financial risk, primarily influenced by its strong financial position, though its recent slower revenue growth adds a minor concern.

This report is generated automatically from publicly available financial data (via yfinance) and a transparent, code-computed risk model. Figures may be incomplete or delayed. The risk model is built for non-financial companies and is less reliable for banks, NBFCs, and insurers. This is not investment advice.